

Available beginning
February 12, 2009
Talk with your SLS
leader

Team Challenge is a one-day activity-based conflict resolution learning experience to facilitate the building of a cohesive and productive team. The program is designed with a cooperative learning approach to teach problem solving skills, and socialization skills (cooperation, compassion, respect, and communication).

Personal Development Profile (DiSC) is an assessment tool designed to instill self-awareness of an individual's behavioral characteristics. The goal of the tool is to enable individuals to understand their behavioral preferences, become more successful in relating to others and to appreciate those who may exhibit different behavioral traits.

Intact Team and Group Development

Myers Briggs Type Indicator (MBTI) is a self-assessment instrument that helps individuals gain insight in four distinct areas: how they get energy, gather information, make decisions and presents these preferences to those around them. The instrument is particularly effective in helping groups or teams respect differences in each other and work more effectively together.

Strength Deployment Inventory (SDI) is an assessment tool that helps people understand the motivation behind behavior, enrich their interpersonal relationships in the workplace and manage conflict more productively.